

Dear Taeyoung Yoon:

Greetings from Bloomington and Happy Year of the Dog, friends!

I am writing to this distinguished group of scholars and friends of Maurer School of Law to remind you that if you have students to recommend for the LLM degree at Maurer—whether they are recent LLB or master’s graduates, current JD students, or soon-to-finish JD students, we would love to see them at Maurer this fall or spring for the LLM degree. I am happy to say that we have already received applications from students at Chung-Ang and Hong-Ik, and I know how competitive Korean law schools are with each other so I thought you might like the challenge of nominating some of your top students to come and study with us! ;-)

You should be aware that we have increased our scholarship budget, so now highly qualified students from partner schools are guaranteed to receive a scholarship of between $10,000–$20,000. Also, if students are applying only to Maurer, they can use the IU application (and application fee waiver) found on the attached document. Otherwise, if they apply using the LSAC system (which allows them to apply to many universities at once), the cost to apply will be much higher.

Ideally, we would like to know about your students who are interested in starting the fall semester by March 15, and to have their completed applications by April 1. If you know of interested candidates, please either direct them to get in touch with our director of admissions, William Schaad at lgradadm@indiana.edu, or send us their names and email addresses yourselves.

We have had a bit of a decrease in Korean students in the past few years and we greatly value your assistance in trying to help us bring back a strong Korean contingent! They are, after all, our best students.

With warmest wishes from Bloomington,

Lesley
